*(1) The long-term care insurance premium is the premium for persons aged 40 to 64 (insured persons under Category 2 of the Long-Term Care Insurance system).

- For persons aged 65 or older who have received a public pension deduction, the income threshold will be calculated using the amount obtained by deducting the special senior deduction amount (¥150,000) from the total income amount.

- If your income in Reiwa 7 is low and you have not filed a resident tax declaration, etc. (including cases where no tax filing is required under tax law), your income status cannot be confirmed. As a result, even if you qualify for the reduction program, the premium cannot be reduced. Please be sure to submit the enclosed declaration form.

- If you are currently enrolled in social insurance, you will need to complete the procedure to withdraw from National Health Insurance.

- Please send copies of the following documents together in the enclosed reply envelope:

- ☐ a document showing the date you joined your workplace insurance
- ☐ an identification document
- ☐ a document showing your My Number
